The Bible & Daily Living

On looking forward

By WILLIAM L. TRIMYER
A MISSION WITH MOMENTUM
Lesson for April 16, 1983
Bible Study Passage: Acts 13:1-3: 14:8 18

INTRODUCTION

People tend to become motivated if they are presented a challenging task. It is likewise true that many people operate best when under pressure to complete a given task. And, then, there are those who procrastinate or put off doing that which they should have done early on.

The point of this week's lesson reveals how commitment and vision enabled the church at Antioch to assume responsibility for supporting the mission work of Paul and Barnabas.

Having a vision for where one is going in life is crucial. This does not mean that it is unimportant to be aware of where we've been in terms of our past. But to maintain a "backward look" is to miss the forward momentum of life. Jesus said on one occasion, "Anyone who puts his hand to the plow and, looking over his shoulder, is not fit for the kingdom of God." (Luke 9:62)

There are times when we may look longingly backward in search of a secure past. "Ah! The good ole days," we may muse. But we must be mindful of the "good new days" that may be in store for us. The forward look will put us in touch with some of life's greatest challenges.

A Church With A Mission Heart [Acts 13:1-3]

The Antioch church responded seriously to the struggles of her sister church in Jerusalem. The Antioch church may be characterized as a giving church. They not only took up a collection to send to the church in Jerusalem, but they willingly sent out two of their best leaders to carry the Gospel to other cities.

The modern church can learn a valuable lesson from the Christians at Antioch. The lesson concerns the need to support and labor together in doing God's work. Competition among churches only decreases their effectiveness in the community and world.

Confronting Paganism [Acts 14:8-13]

Many who heard Paul's preaching were changed inwardly and outwardly. The above passage tells of a crippled man who was healed of his lameness. The onlookers were amazed at what they saw and believed they had been visited by the "gods."

The residents of Lystra were convinced that the gods Jupiter and Mercurius had come in human form in the bodies of Barnabas and Paul. But Barnabas and Paul were no more gods than any of the clergy who occupy the pulpit today. Yet some people seem to need their minister to act god-like and occupy a lofty place above the common folks. Ministers are only humans who have responded to an inward tug of the heart to proclaim the good news of God's grace in Jesus Christ.

Setting the People Straight [Acts 14:14-18]

Barnabas and Paul were shocked that the people of Lystra mistook them for pagan deities. The fact that they tore their clothes revealed their discontent with the misperceptions of the people. In their defense they proclaimed, "We are men who have human passions just like you. We are here to encourage you to turn from such awkward thinking to the living God."

It is easy for some people to become confused about what is truth. Some people blindly follow leaders because they seem to possess all truth. Some people are more captivated by the charisma of an individual than what is truth. Then there are some who cling to the words of certain leaders because it's easier to have someone to do all their thinking for them.

It is crucial to listen to the messenger and the message; but, above all, it is important to discern for oneself what is truth. Ministers are there to help guide us but not to think for us or make our ethical and moral choices for us.

The money represented proceeds from the recent county-wide talent show sponsored by the Appomattox Assembly to benefit the 4-H program in Appomattox County. Mrs. Stevens is secretary of the Assembly, and Mrs. Harvey is chairman of the 4-H fundraising program. The Assembly urges other groups in the county to rally behind the cause of 4-H in the county.

St. Luke news

The sunrise service at St. Luke Church on Sunday, April 13 at 5:30 was well attended. The Rev. Alvin Jones was speaker for the occasion. Members of the senior choir provided music. The Rev. Jones had for his subject, "Come Go With Me And See Where They laid Him." The offering was good. Refreshments were served in the dining area of the church and members remained for Sunday School.

At the morning worship service the Rev. Robert R. Jones was present and in charge. Mrs. Nowlin was pianist and the senior choir presented the music. The Rev. Jones presented a musical selection, "I'll Walk That Milky White Way Some Day." His text was from Matt Chapter 16, sixth verse. His subject was "We Belive In Jesus." Many former members and friends were present. The offering was good.

The Young Adult Ushers were at their post.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Williamson were visiting from Washington, D.C. to see her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Sadie Scott.

Mr. Russell Hunter had the misfortune to get burned while burning off a garden plot. He is under the doctor's care; we wish for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Catherine Tweedy has gone to Baltimore to be with her sick sister, Mrs. Christina Nance, who is improving slowly.

Mrs. Vicky Ferguson and her daughter and Mr. Gowin were visiting in the home of Mrs. Louise Canada.

The Senior Citizens Club of Brookneal is planning to meet at the club house April 11 at 10 a.m. The leader is Mrs. Louise Canada.

Weekend revival slated

Weekend revival services are planned for Trinity United Methodist Church, Route 2, Concord, for April 22. April 23, and April 24 beginning each evening at 7:30.

The Rev. Calvin Johnson of Lexington will be the guest minister. Special music is planned for each service. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The Rev. David B. Camden is pastor of the church.

Galilee Church news

God is our refuge and strength a very present help in trouble. Therefore we will not fear."

We extend a most cordial invitation to everyone to worship together at Galilee this coming Sunday. Pastor Davis will deliver the morning message. The YSD Singers will render the spiritual and gospel selections. In addition, the widow pane rally will end that morning.

The YSD Singers will rehearse on Wednesday at 7 p.m.

On the first Sunday in May, the Ladies' Club of Galilee will hold their annual celebration. Rev. Tim Lawing and the Harmonetts of Jordan Baptist Church will be guest.

The Appomattox Voters League will meet on next Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Spout Spring community center.

Mr. Walton Fleshman is improving in the hospital. Mr. Kenneth Gafford is on the sick list.

Rev. Tim Lawing represented the music departments of Galilee, First Baptist, Promise Land, Mt. Zion and Mt. Airy at the Edwin Hawkins Music and Art seminar in Chicago, Ill. last week. The week-long seminar was composed of church musicians from all over the country. The annual affair was very informative and enjoyable. It is our desire that other church members will join the seminar next year when it meets in Philadelphia. The seminar gives expert training in such areas as song writing, drama, vocal techniques, career in gospel music, business, keyboard, sacred dancing, the ministry of gospel music, directing and choir decorum, fashion designing and broadcasting. Anyone interested in any of these areas please contact Rev. Lawing at 352-7681 for further information.

In closing, let us remember to pray for the sick, shut-in, aged, less fortunate and those in despair.

Unless you live in Christ, you are dead to God!

Have a spiritfilled and pleasant week. See you in church.

Weatherly addresses group

Dr. Mark Weatherly, associate professor in the Department of Education and Psychology at Longwood College in Farmville, addressed the members of the Xi Gamma Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi last week in Appomattox.

The program was one of a series of cultural programs arranged by program chairman Anne Harris. Programs throughout the year will bring various subjects to the membership.

Dr. Weatherly addressed the importance of psychiatry in today's environment, and the primary structure of psychiatry. His address was followed by questions from the members.

Dr. Weatherly received his B.S. degree at Stetson University, and his Masters and Doctors degrees at the University of Virginia. Before coming to Longwood, Dr. Weatherly specialized in Marital and Family Therapy in private practice. His professional memberships include American Psychological Association, American Association for Marital and Family Therapy, American Psychical Society, and Phi Delta Kappa professional fraternity.

School groups get together

On Thursday, April 7, the ACHS Future Homemakers of America held their monthly meeting with the HERO Club and DECA chapter. Sharon Davis, FHA president, called the meeting to order and devotions were given by Bernadine Garrett.

The program was entitled "What To Wear to the Prom." Several members participated from each club with the girls wearing their own prom dresses and the guys wearing tuxedoes furnished my Mitchell's Formal Wear in Lynchburg. Darlene Smith and Tina Reynolds narrated the fashion show and Ms. Diane Ramsey from Mitchells answered questions about renting tuxs and dressing for formal occasions.

FHA officers for 1983-84 were elected following the program. They are: President, Tammy Smith; Vice-Presidents, Cynthia Robinson, Kelly Bowen, and Bernadine Garrett; Recording Secretary, Susan Goggin; Corresponding Secretary, Annette Turner; Treasurer, Gwen Daulton; Reporter, Debra Kelso; Chaplain, Jennifer Coleman; Historian, Dana Lee; Parliamentarian, Virginia Crews; Photographer, Tonia Watson; and Recreation Leaders, Robin Miller and Lisa Gillispie.
